REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

HIS EXCELLENCY, J. C. B. EHRLINGHAUS
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Dear Governor Ehringhaus:

The Board of Directors of the North Carolina School for the Deaf has the honor to submit to your Excellency their twenty-second biennial report, and respectfully ask your careful examination of the conditions, progress, and needs of the School in the report submitted by Superintendent Goodwin.

We have 371 deaf boys and girls from all parts of the state and feel that they are getting the best possible treatment—both physically and mentally.

We have every reason to be proud of the excellent standing that our North Carolina School has in the profession in other states. It stands out with the very best institutions of this type, and it is the earnest wish of the Board of Directors to keep it up to this high standard. We feel that the institution will be handicapped if we do not have sufficient funds to keep a staff of teachers that will be adequate to meet our needs.

In the effort to try to live within the appropriation granted us, we have been forced to cut teachers' salaries until we have lost 18 efficient teachers out of a staff of 36 within the last two years; which has handicapped the effectiveness of the staff to a great extent. In fact, we feel that if it had not been for the efficient management and untiring efforts of Superintendent Goodwin and his able corps of teachers, the school would have been in a very serious condition, and we also feel that the Board of Directors and the State owe them a great debt.

The needs for the next biennium are clearly set forth in the report of the Superintendent and we respectfully urge upon your Excellency, both as Governor of North Carolina and Director of the Budget, to use your influence with the next General Assembly to give careful consideration to our requests as outlined by the Superintendent, as well as our budget estimates for the next biennium previously submitted to the Budget Commission.

The members of the Board wish to express their gratitude to your Excellency for your courteous consideration and interest in the school, and through you thank the various State and County officials for their interest and assistance at all times.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. R. B. BOGER,

Secretary of the Board.

W. W. NEAL, President.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

HON. W. W. NEAL, PRESIDENT
AND MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
NORTH CAROLINA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF
MORGANTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Dear Sirs:

Complying with the statute, and requirements of the Board of Directors, I am presenting my twenty-second biennial report of the North Carolina School for the Deaf. From some standpoints, this biennium has been one of the hardest of any fiscal period in our history.

During the fiscal period ending June 30, 1934, we had under instruction, 232 boys and 197 girls, a total of 429. The regular school work has been without any unusual incident, and its progress has been satisfactory. There has been no change of methods of instruction, that have been pursued for years, but we feel that experience has helped us to be more efficient, from year to year.

During this biennium we graduated 11 boys and 5 girls and dismissed with certificates 6 boys and 8 girls. We enrolled as beginners 41 boys and 38 girls. The enrollment for the session 1933-1934 was 371 deaf students.

During the period we trained 16 young college women, all of whom were promptly placed in various schools for the deaf in lucrative positions.

OUR STAFF OF TRAINED TEACHERS

The modern method of teaching the deaf is highly specialized. Less than a score of years ago, many of the teachers of the deaf had no special training, for at that time there were not enough trained teachers of the deaf, to supply the needs, and at that time, there was a lack of standardization of work, and no certification of teachers' qualifications. But at present no well-regulated school would employ a class teacher who had not had special training. Even a decade ago many of the young women taking normal training, were only high school graduates, while today, the best schools, having normal training classes, require at least two years' college credits. Hereafter the North Carolina School for the Deaf, will admit no young woman who is not a college graduate, with a degree. The young woman seeking a position to teach the deaf finds it greatly to her advantage to have a college degree, and a year's training in the specialty of teaching the deaf. Since our school opened in 1894, we have trained 135 young women and 4 young men, every one of whom secured positions and has made good in various states, some of whom have had headships in other states.

From the very beginning of my superintendency, I have striven to get together and hold a strong, well-trained staff of teachers, although practically every other school paid higher salaries. While we have lost many excellent teachers, we have kept many of the very best ones who are faithful and efficient. The records that our former teachers have made in other schools, have been a source of gratification. We have been able to keep up the standard of efficiency because we have trained our own teachers.

PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL

This school was intended primarily to give the deaf youth of the state, a common school education. This we have stressed from the beginning. But the young deaf man or woman with a common school education, is still greatly handicapped if he has had no vocational training while acquiring his academic education. There are no vocational schools specifically for the deaf.

We have said repeatedly that a school for the deaf must be responsible for every phase of training for the deaf—mental, moral and religious—and should be responsible for his vocational training, when given the means to do it. Our school needs more equipment and means for vocational training, under competent instructors.

While we have enrolled 371 deaf children this session, there are many more who should be reached. We have more than a score of applications sent in by welfare workers, and others whose parents will not send them to school. From year to year we have pursued some, who have now become too old to enter and are adults today, not knowing their names. I believe it is safe to say, that there are at least a hundred eligible deaf children in the state, not in any school today.

We have asked various agencies for their aid, and many welfare workers have aided us. There are parents who refuse to send their children to school, but we believe it is a lack of understanding on the part of a misguided parent.

A FIELD WORKER NEEDED

In my report to the General Assembly two years ago, I asked for a field worker, but under the financial stress the appropriation was not made for such worker. This field worker should be with, or co-operate with, the welfare department, and should visit every home where there is a deaf child, regardless of age, and inform the parents. We said in a former report that a child worth training was worth "finding." Mr. J. M. Vestal, chief of the Bureau of Labor for the Deaf, has helped in locating deaf children in a number of instances, and inducing parents to send children to school, and has been instrumental in placing many former students in industrial establishments.

The field worker could aid the deaf who have been through school, in adjusting themselves in their activities. We need a follow-up system as many schools and colleges have.

OUR FARM AND DAIRY HERD

Our farm is an asset. It enables us to board our school, both more cheaply and more satisfactorily than we could without a much larger appropriation. Coupled with our Holstein dairy herd, the farm becomes more worthwhile, for it is conceded by all that there is no better food for children than good milk.

PROGRESS SHOWN

Schools for the deaf have made marvelous progress in educational methods of teaching, in academic work, and in the development of speech and speech-reading.

The urgent need in most schools for the deaf, is better work in vocational training—manual arts, and industrial training in general. The deaf child, too much like his hearing brother, does not receive the same careful instruction in the vocational department as in the academic department. It goes without saying, that there is a decided dearth of well-prepared teachers of the several vocations usually taught in most schools, and until we have technically trained teachers, in vocational departments, we will get indifferent results. We sometimes see a boy skilled in handicraft, but he does not have the technical knowledge to receive instructions or take orders from his employers or foremen. There is really less difficulty in teaching vocations, than academic studies in schools for the deaf and we sometimes see a very skilled deaf artisan though he may be lacking in ability to express himself.

This school needs a larger staff of better trained vocational teachers, who have knowledge of the needs of the deaf in industries.

We have at least 40 boys who are idle two or three hours daily, that should be doing some sort of work, under instruction. The deaf, if properly trained, do quite as well as their hearing brothers in industries.

We have recommended in the past, that we ought to be able to teach floriculture, market gardening and general truck gardening, but that meant an outlay, and we have not been able to add these departments for training.

We have a class of about 30 who work on the farm about fourteen hours a week, but not under a teacher of agriculture. They help in preparing land, planting, cultivating and harvesting crops. We do not claim to teach agriculture. Our students are not advanced enough to study soil analysis, and chemistry of fertilizing and testing seeds.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS AND RECREATION

It takes athletics to round out activities in every school, and a school for the deaf is no exception. We have organized teams in football, basketball, and baseball, and our boys have acquitted themselves with credit. O. W. Underhill is the managing director, and J. W. Alexander, the coach, both doing the recreational work with the boys, besides teaching classes. Our school is a member of the Western Conference of the High School Athletic Association. The girls have their part in basketball and volley ball.

Our boys have active organizations of Boy Scouts and many of them have been advanced through the several degrees. The girls have Girl Scouts organization and participate in Girl Scout activities and hikes. All of these organizations and activities go to make them more like their hearing brothers and sisters.

OUR HOSPITAL AND CARE OF THE SICK

The disease, or condition causing deafness, has often left the physical condition of deaf children more susceptible to disease, than are normal children, and thus leaves the responsibility of caring for them in school more apparent. We find preventive methods are more important than treatment of disease.

Without the school hospital there would be much more interruptions of school work. It is our policy to send a child to the hospital when he shows the first symptom of illness, and prevent, if possible, development of any condition in his health that prevents his daily attendance of class room work. It not only facilitates better work, but actually prevents repeating the year's work, and thus reducing the years required for a student to complete his course of study, to say nothing of suffering with disease that should be prevented. By this policy and care, we have been able to avoid epidemics and prolonged cases of illness.

At the opening of school last session we had 74 underweight children, but with proper care and diet at close of school, there were only 14 underweights. It is our purpose for each child to have a quart of milk daily.

For a detailed record, see our attending physician's report.

DENTAL CARE NEEDED

When our appropriations and allotments would permit it, in conjunction with the State Hospital, we had one-third time weekly of a competent dentist. But during the depression we have not had the means to employ one; hence neglect of all dental work, except the most urgent relief work, most of the cost of which had to come out of our limited budget. The State Board of Health and the Department of Education both urge the necessity of proper prophylactic dentistry.

Our budget should be adequate to have service of a part time dentist.

BURNING OF THE STEWARD'S HOME

In May, 1933, fire caused by lightning, destroyed the steward's cottage, then occupied by a teacher. We have not been able to replace same. It would relieve condition in Main Building to have a neat unpretentious cottage of about six rooms, to be occupied by a man teacher. We ought to have such a man teacher living on the campus, for the sake of his influence with the pupils. We have to our credit about half enough, ($1,950.00) collected from insurance, to rebuild. A special appropriation of $2,000.00 should be made for such cottage.

AID FOR STUDENTS AT COLLEGE

Many of the states make appropriations to aid deaf students to attend Gallaudet College. This College is the only college for the deaf where students take courses leading to degrees. We have recommended in former reports that appropriation be made to aid worthy students to attend college. This fund might be made a revolving fund. I respectfully ask that $1,000.00 be appropriated for such aid.

OUR FINANCES

One of our major problems has been to keep up our standard of efficiency with our limited budget. I have never boasted about how cheaply I could run the school, but how well, with the means at our hand. As far as I have been able to ascertain, we are running on the smallest per capita cost of any state residential school on the continent.

Our annual income has been the least for the past two years that we have had in several years. But we have economized and managed to live within our income and we have done efficient work. For detailed account of our finances, see the report of Mrs. Barron, our steward and budget officer. All these accounts have been audited by the state auditing department and speak for themselves.

MAINTENANCE NEEDED

We ask most urgently for an appropriation for maintenance of $96,000.00 for 1935-36, and $100,000.00 for 1936-37, and $30,000.00 for special addition to dormitory and gymnasium, and $2,500.00 for replacing slate roof on Primary Building. The additional room would house about 40 more students. It is only a matter of a few years before large additions or new buildings shall have to be made. That might best be made in a new plant, in the eastern part of the State, to meet the growing needs of the deaf population. Such a plant should be built east of Raleigh to accommodate 150 to start with.

REPAIRS AND BETTERMENTS

During the biennium we have not been able to do many of the needed repairs, and today there are some very vital repairs needed.

OUR EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

For detailed account of the academic work, see report of Miss Joiner, our Educational Principal.

MISS ENFIELD JOINER'S REPORT

Dr. E. McK. Goodwin, Superintendent
North Carolina School for the Deaf
Morganton, North Carolina

My dear Sir:

I have the honor to submit to you my seventh biennial report as Principal of the Educational Department of this school. In June, 1935, I shall have completed my thirteenth year in this position. During these years there has been a steady growth of the school in enrollment and in efficiency. Our policy has been one of progress through evolution rather than revolution and the rating of the school as compared with other schools for the deaf throughout the country has been of the highest. It is the aim of the school to give every educable deaf child in the state an elementary education and the rudiments of a trade by which he or she may earn a living.

It is difficult even for those of us who work with the deaf child fully to comprehend his social and his economic handicap. He enters school at seven or thereabouts, as a general thing ignorant of his own name or of the fact that he has a name. Lacking language he has had no medium either for thinking or the expression of thought. He must be taught by special methods and by specially trained teachers. If he isn't taught, he remains a being which exists, not a thinking and reasoning person. If he receives an education and is taught a trade, he becomes an asset to the state and to society. It is, therefore, the economical and practical, as well as the humane thing, to give him such opportunities as our schools offer his hearing brothers and sisters.

During the past biennium we have enrolled 428 pupils, have graduated 15, have given certificates showing completion of 9th grade work to 13 others, and have awarded our normal training diploma to 16 young women. Although our teachers have suffered drastic cuts in salaries, there has been no diminution of effort or interest on their part, and we feel that the period has shown improvement in our class room work.

I regret to report that this is not true of our industrial work. We have had no trained physical director; for lack of an instructor, our manual arts department has been closed part of the time; we have had no trained teacher of domestic science for our girls. Our pupils have lost practically two whole years of training along these lines.

Our girls in particular are in need of more varied industrial training. They have never been taught anything by which they might become wage-earners except sewing and cooking and other types of domestic work. If our school is to keep abreast with the times our girls must be afforded wider opportunities for vocational preparation.

During the past biennium we have been able to keep our present efficient faculty because a large number of our teachers live in Morganton or nearby and because those who do not live near had personal reasons for remaining. In spite of the heavy handicap to our work which the financial crisis has placed on us, our morale has been kept up, and our standards have been met. For a time it has been possible to do this. Eventually disheartening influences are bound to have their effect. Adequate pay for our teachers and officers is a major need.

In the last analysis, the teachers and the Principal could have done but little without your active support and interest. For these, and for the co-operation of the officers and instructors in other departments, I wish to offer my thanks.

Respectfully submitted,
ENFIELD JOINER,
Educational Principal.

As we review this biennium, we find many things that have contributed to our efforts in line of our arduous duties.

The Kiwanian and Rotarian organizations of the state have shown cordial interest in our school, and have given us opportunities to show in several localities what the school is doing.

A number of the leading physicians and specialists have treated a number of our students gratis, which has meant much to the individual students, and practically saved many of them from a wrecked body.

The physicians of Charlotte have rendered most helpful assistance, and we want to thank them in the name of the School and the individual children. We thank Doctors Matheson, Motley, Sloan, Smith and Hovis for special work, and Doctor Scruggs for difficult surgery—all done gratis.

The most outstanding of all has been the co-operation and loyalty of a faithful staff of teachers, officers and employees, each of whom we wish to thank.

We thank the Board of Directors for their support at all times.

Very respectfully submitted,
E. MCK. GOODWIN,
Superintendent

GENERAL INFORMATION

The North Carolina School for the Deaf is purely a school for the education of the deaf, and not a custodial home, where children are to be cared for a term of years. It endeavors to cover the public school course of study, as far as possible. It is not a hospital where children are treated for disease with the hope of restoring hearing.

The law fixes the age of attendance, from seven to twenty-one years, and applicants must be of sound mind and of good moral character to be eligible. The school cannot admit and keep in school children who are feeble-minded or idiots. Our methods are not intended for such cases nor are we prepared to care for them. If deaf children are physically strong and well developed, they should enter school at seven years of age. We can accomplish much more for them, especially is it to their advantage in speech, and ability to read speech, to enter at an early age.

If parents are in indigent circumstances, and not able to pay travelling expenses to and from school, and clothe their children, their respective counties will do it upon certain affidavits being filled out and furnished to the Superintendent.

We want the name of every deaf child in North Carolina not in school, and the management most earnestly asks the aid of every good citizen in the State in obtaining the same. Especially do we ask the good offices of teachers, school trustees, county superintendents, welfare officers, physicians and ministers of all the denominations to assist us and thereby help the deaf children to receive their right by inheritance and the beneficence of a generous citizenship.

We have a compulsory attendance law, and if you know of a deaf child not in school, some parent is breaking the law, and the child needs your help.
